NARCOTIC PROBLEM PERPLEXES BOARD

by Allman Cook

Narcotics, the resignation of High School Principal Warren Edwards and the presence of about 50 students were of dominant interest at the tobacco smoke laden Carmel Unified School District Board meeting last night in Brey Hall. I was told that the civics instructor requires attendance of the class students to at least one school board meeting.

After quick approval of the minutes of the last meeting and the Warrant List of $27,530.28 the matter of Principal Warren W. Edwards' April 10 letter of resignation was discussed. The motion was made and carried to draft a letter accepting Mr. Edwards' resignation.

Mr. Edwards has accepted a position as high school principal of the American Academy in Athens, Greece starting August 1. This school in Athens is backed by American residents. It has 750 students.

Requests for leave of absence were granted instructors Dian Hardy, Betty Miller and Shirley Taylor.

Next on the agenda was a very lengthy discussion regarding a Health Course of Study. Superintendent, Dr. Harris Taylor pointed out that the two years requirement of science has worked a hardship on the non-academic student. The visitors present, mostly students participated in the discussion primarily on the aspect of the program's benefit to students faced with exposure to narcotics use. The course was unanimously adopted, modifying the present Board policy requiring two years of science to only one year plus a half year of the Health Course.

Discussion was then directed to the Carmel Teachers Association's presentations regarding pay and revising the maximum number of days covered by regular pay. No decisions were reached and the matter is open for further consideration.

Permission was granted Superintendent Taylor to apply for State approval for including music, driver education and humanities in a summer program.

The last item discussed was the problem of whether to continue suspension of five students taken into custody by the police for use and possession of narcotics — off the campus. These youngsters have been released pending hearings before the Juvenile Court.

It was decided that an executive session of the board would be necessary at which the boys, parents and witnesses could present evidence. The concern is with the fact that the California Laws do not include the power for the courts to judge juveniles guilty and they must therefore be presumed innocent. State law does allow a school board to exclude, suspend or even expel in such instances. The board must consider whether allowing such juveniles to commingle with the students might influence other students on the campus. This decision could have a marked influence on the future of the five youngsters.

Because it was now 11 p.m., Dr. Taylor moved for adjournment on the basis that the balance of the agenda could be reviewed, reconsidered and brought up at another meeting.

Editorial

As the publisher of your Carmel Pine Cone newspaper it is now time for me to meet my responsibility to you in making recommendations for the Carmel Unified School District election April 18.

I urge, without reservation, that you return the incumbents Mr. Steven H. Sassoon and Dr. Hilton M. Bialek to their positions as board members. Mr. Sassoon and Dr. Bialek have proven themselves capable administrators of our trust. It is fortunate for the school board that we are able to return these men who are now seasoned to meet the demands of this job.

For the third member we must elect, I admire Mr. Curtis A. Pringle's business and executive experience. This businessman's background of establishing and administering schools, reported earlier in this paper, certainly could be very beneficial to the school board. He could offer important guidance to the appropriation of our tax dollars.

Mr. Richard T. Wilsdon's knowledge as an attorney is a contribution to our school board administration which could well be used. His three children attending the school system will help him to be keenly aware of requirements for pupils. He is a well seasoned member of this community. Many times he has demonstrated his interest in community affairs.

Either Mr. Wilsdon or Mr. Pringle should be a good choice to receive your vote as the third elected board member for the Carmel Unified School District.

To help you in making decisions in this matter we have listed qualifications for school board members as recommended by the California School Boards Association (see page 6). Also you will find a statement and picture from each of the candidates in this paper.

I recommend that you vote for the incumbents in the Monterey Peninsula College District, Russel S. Hansen, Nancy O'Gara and Margaret Swigart. They have weathered some very difficult times including planning the growth of the College, raising the necessary funds and restoring harmony between faculty and administration.

Arthur B. Ingham has proven himself very capable and I see no reason why he should not be returned to his position with the County Board of Education.

I think attorney Borell Kischen would be a good man for the County Board of Education. He is intelligent, knowledgeable and well qualified.

Signed
Allman J. Cook

Steven H. Sassoon

I am seeking reelection because of my deep interest in the education of our youth and my belief that continuity in the Board is vital to the efficient operation of the District. The result of the recent override tax election placed an obligation on the Board to assure that funds derived from this tax are used in accordance with the Board's published list of needs.

During my term on the Board, considerable improvements have been made in the program of the District. More emphasis has been placed on reading and mathematics at the primary level. Grouping in accordance to achievement and team teaching brought individualized instruction closer to reality. An excellent science program was developed at the Middle School.

Great emphasis has been placed on the selection of the staff. No effort was spared in seeking the community were encouraged to actively participate in planning best available men and women. Parents and interested members of the educational program through citizens curriculum committees.

During these past four years I have endeavored to serve the District to the best of my ability, always keeping in mind the educational needs of the students, while watching carefully to see that the taxpayer's money is spent wisely and efficiently.

If reelected, I pledge to continue devoting all the time and energy required to do an effective job.

Hilton M. Bialek

For the past three and one-half years, when I was appointed to fill a vacancy, I have been a member of the Carmel School Board. I have three children attending Carmel schools and have been a resident home owner in this area for 10 years. During my incumbency I have been able to work most effectively and harmoniously with my fellow Board members while steadfastly maintaining an independent point of view and perspective.

Since professionally I am a research psychologist dealing with educational problems, I am especially aware of the complexities

FIVE CONTENDERS FOR MPC TRUSTEE BOARD

Three incumbents will face two challengers in the upcoming April 18 Monterey Peninsula College board of trustees election.

Incumbents Russel S. Hansen and Mrs. Nancy O'Gara of Monterey and Dr. Margaret Swigart of Pacific Grove are facing Charles Y. Lee and George Gividen.

The present board members up for re-election represent a combined total of 10 years service to the MPC district.

Incumbent Hansen, 50, has been chairman of MPC's board for the past two years. A prominent building trades union official, Hansen is married and the father of three children attending local schools. He is a former foreman of the Monterey County Grand Jury and is a member of the board of directors of the Monterey USO, Peninsula Community Chest and an official of the county Youth Foundation. Hansen served four years of combat duty during WW II.

Mrs. O'Gara, mother of three school-age children is book review editor of the Monterey Peninsula Herald, a member of the Monterey History & Art association, The Monterey Committee on City Appearance and is a former board member of the Monterey County Symphony Guild. Her background includes academic work at the California School of Fine Arts, Corcoran Institute and Bennington College.

A long-time resident of Pacific Grove, Dr. Swigart has been a resident and practicing physician on the Peninsula for 37 years. She has delivered more than 1,000 Peninsula babies. A past president of the Monterey County Medical Society, she serves as medical advisor to the Visiting Nurses Association and has conducted child health conferences in the area since 1930. Dr. Swigart, named "Woman of the Year" by the PG Quota Club in 1962, is a member of the Episcopal Diocesan Committee on World Missions.

NEW CONTENDERS

Charles Y. Lee, instructor for Carmel Adult School for 13 years, chairman of Seaside Art Commission, former instructor for MPC evening division for 4 years, is urging all his former students, friends and sympathizers to vote for him on Tuesday, April 18, as a trustee on the MPC Board.

He feels he's qualified because of his name: LEE—L for leadership, E for educational background, and another E for experience in school business. He runs because he wants terminal art courses, vocational art workshop, more foreign languages, and higher moral standard at MPC. He, too, likes to see an educator on the Board to represent the teachers' points of view.

Mr. George Gividen is also running. Unfortunately his Statement, requester by the Pine Cone, had not arrived at press time.

and enormous subtleties of the teaching-learning process. Therefore, I feel I am in a good position to evaluate the educational proposals put before the Board. Thus, though I am very interested in innovation, I am equally concerned with the adequate evaluation of and justification for proposed changes. In my deliberations on the Board, I have tried to use as a general guide the concept of individualized instruction and have supported those methods, materials, and programs which are designed to allow each child to proceed in his optimal manner, at his optimal speed, and within his optimal area of interest. I have opposed recommendations which appear contrary to this view.

Having shared in the important decision of selecting our new Superintendent and his immediate staff, I feel the District is now ready to move to appreciably strengthen our instructional program in an economic, efficient, and professional manner.

Thomas M. Moore, Jr.

I am a candidate for the office of Trustee of the Carmel Unified School District. I have been a resident of the district since 1959. From 1959 to 1964 I was Assistant District Attorney ultimately being in charge of the Monterey Peninsula office. Since 1964 I have been a partner in the law firm of Hudson, Martin, Ferrante & Street.

I am married and the father of three children who attend Carmel River School. My wife is Helen Indiana Moore and my children are Katie, 9, Tommy, 8, and Sean, 7. My wife is a part-time member of the Monterey Peninsula Visiting Nurses Association staff. In addition, she is a volunteer teacher of students with impaired reading facilities.

I became interested in this campaign.

Carmel Cartoonist To Open Lecture Series

Eldon Dedini, a favorite of readers of Esquire, The New Yorker, Playboy, Look and other magazines, will open "Cartoonists Look at Society," a lecture-demonstration series, at Monterey Peninsula College on Wednesday, April 19.

One of America's foremost magazine cartoonists, Mr. Dedini is a "local boy." He was born in King City and graduated from King City High School and attended Hartnell College. While in college, he worked as an editorial and sports cartoonist for the Salinas Californian. Later, he attended Chouinard Art Institute in Los Angeles.

After graduating from Chouinard, he worked for Universal Studios and then for Walt Disney. Esquire then put him under a four-year contract. In 1950 he accepted a "first look" contract with the New Yorker and moved his family to Carmel. He has been named "Gag Cartoonist of the Year" in 1958, 1961 and 1964.

Mr. Dedini will speak at 8 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall and free tickets are available at the college administration building or may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the MPC Community Services Office.

The balance of the "Cartoonist Look at Society" series will feature Frank O'Neal, creator of "Shortribs," on April 26; and Richard Bibler, MPC art instructor and creator of "Little Man on Campus," May 3.

Native Plant Sale

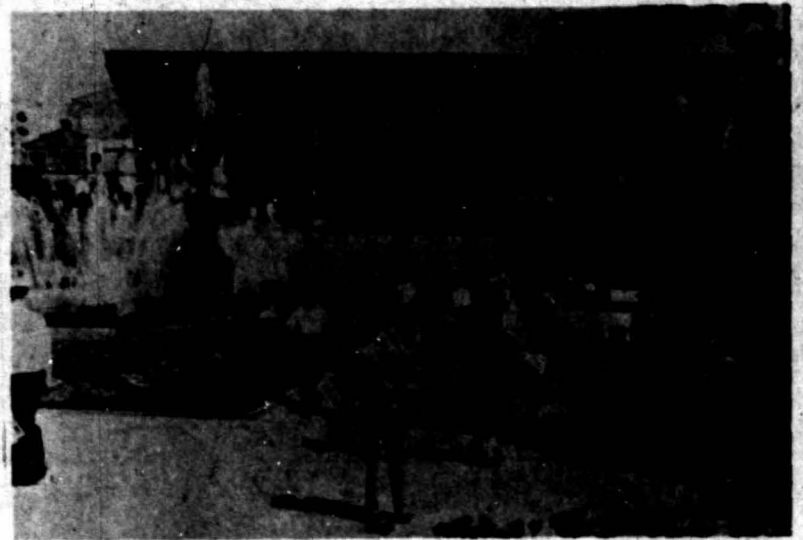

The Monterey Bay Chapter of the California Native Plant Society is holding a sale of native plants in Jewel Park, Pacific Grove, from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday, April 15. The park is opposite the Pacific Grove Museum where the Wildflower Show will be taking place at the same time.

Anyone desiring to enter a pet should send a self-addressed and stamped envelope to Miss Deane McConnell, 95 Via Ventura, Monterey. An entry blank will be returned to them. Deadline for entries is May 1.

Pets of all sizes and descriptions may be entered in the show. It is hoped that this may become an annual event so that Peninsula youngsters may have the fun and experience of entering their favorite pet in competition with others.

Heard But Not Seen

The first of the century comes roaring back into the present each time Al Houd's antique Pierce Arrow horn resounds in the production of Eugene O'Neill's comedy of recollection "Ah, Wilderness!", now playing at the Circle Theatre in Carmel. Al, the owner of the much admired car and manager of the Shell station at San Carlos and Fourth, watched as "Wilderness" characters Nat Miller (Sam Karas in real life) and Sid Davis (Dick Bird), pose for a picture for the theater's program cover.

Terman Turns 'Em On

Fred W. Terman of Carmel, is technical director for the Naval Postgraduate School Little Theater's spring production "South Pacific."

When not backstage manipulating the lights for the colorful Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, Terman is an assistant professor in the Electrical Engineering Department at the Navy School. He is also vice president of the Little Theater group, and this is the sixth of their shows for which he has contributed his time and talents.

The last two performances of "South Pacific" will be given tomorrow and Saturday, April 14 and 15.

LINES FROM

THE STUDIO

For a nostalgic, heart-warming, superbly done drama, don't miss "Ah, Wilderness!" at the Circle. Edie and Sam Karas have never been better. Dick Bird is impressive and Wayne Kendall tears your heart out. The supporting roles are all beautifully portrayed. With such powerful competition, we're lucky to have an equally worthy play and players in "Arsenic And Old Lace." Our dynamic duo consists of Ruth McElroy and Betty Fowlston, whose elderberry wine caper leaves Studio audiences in stitches each Friday, Saturday and Sunday night. Keith Decker, by the way, took over the part of Jonathan on a moment's notice — he's tremendous — and the rest of our distinguished cast is worthy of this classic comedy. $5.50 for dinner and show; $2.75 for the show alone.

A. G. Michaud, president of Del Monte Properties, said Elliott is succeeding E. A. Shattuck, who resigned to take a position with Utah Mining and Construction Company.

For the last nine years Elliott has been party chief of the survey crew for Del Monte Properties. He is a native of Monterey and a graduate of Carmel schools and Menlo College.

Curtis A. Pringle

My desire to see that all the children in the Carmel Unified School District receive the finest education in well run schools was the major factor in my decision to run for the school board.

Better communication between the schools and the parents, greater teacher participation in course content, and a well-rounded educational program including expanded academic, vocational and athletic training are vitally necessary to the future of our district's children. Board members must be responsive to the actual needs of the children in the classrooms rather than to their own personal preferences for the subjects to be taught.

I moved to my home in Rancho Rio Vista in 1961, shortly before retiring as President of Johnson's Wax of Brazil. While President of that company, I personally supervised the establishment of the Johnson Foundation Brazilian schools, which included directing the construction of the schools; setting up the curricula; hiring and training teachers, purchasing the needed teaching equipment and educational materials; selecting the school trustees; and equipping, staffing and operating the school kitchens and medical clinics. In short, I was responsible for every phase of the school operations.

Prior to 1951, I owned and operated my own construction company, was manager of Ford's Brazilian rubber plantations where I established schools, and in World War II served as a Marine Corps Captain (res).

I am also the only candidate running who has had years of private business experience administering budgets the size of that of the Carmel Unified School District.

I believe my years of business experience, combined with my broad knowledge of school operation and finance, make me well qualified for school trustee.

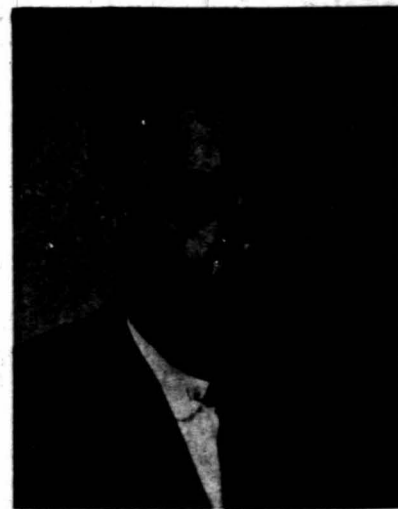

Richard T. Wilsdon

I have lived in Carmel for six years and my wife Jean and I have three children, ages 8, 6 and 5, in Carmelo School.

My association with the Carmel Unified School District began four years ago when my oldest child entered kindergarten at River School.

In the years since then, I have devoted many hours to the problems and needs of the district, having served as Chairman of the English Curriculum Committee, Chairman of the Citizens Finance Committee, Chairman of Citizens For Better Schools and an area chairman during the recent over-ride campaign.

I have regularly attended school board meetings during this period

The governing board of a school district is an administrative body created by the Legislature and having only those powers expressly granted to it by the Legislature. In general the board prescribes the duties to be performed by all persons employed by the district, and fixes their salaries; prescribes and enforces rules for the administration of the schools; prescribes and enforces the course of study and manages district property.

I am a candidate for the governing board of the Carmel Unified School District because as a parent and taxpayer I am concerned about the future of the district and because I feel that my knowledge, experience and training will enable me to successfully carry out the duties of a member of the board.

The knowledge and experience I have gained from these activities have given me an understanding of the district, its needs, and its

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

A WEEK OF ACHIEVEMENT AT STEVENSON

Dodging raindrops and changing schedules, the Stevenson "Pirates" managed some athletic victories and forensic honors this past week.

Swim: Hosting the Far West Prep Swim Championships for the second year, Stevenson managed to take a surprising third place with only six varsity mermen as the meet was dominated by the outstanding Serra team from San Mateo. Taking swim honors for R.L.S. was team Captain Tim Shea with a sensational win in the 50 yard freestyle by 1/10th of a second, and two strong thirds by Pete Cowden in the 100 yard backstroke and Jim Merritt in the 100 yard butterfly. R. L. S. also took thirds in both relays. Jim Booth, injured earlier in the week, was greatly missed, especially in light of the slim margin of victory for Riordan Prep in taking second place.

The "B" teams had an unofficial meet, with RLS placing fourth, and Jim Costello had an especially fine performance in taking second in diving.

Founded and organized by R.L.S., the meet was under the supervision of Athletic Director Dick Zury. Dick, who is also baseball coach and has yet to play his first game due to rain, was happy that the meet was completed. (Of course, it didn't rain during the SWIM meet). Team Coach Jim Stam did a fine job in assisting Dick and our thanks to all the staff and local coaches who gave a hand in the meet.

Forensic: Two boys will represent the Stevenson school in the State of California Forensic Championships in May. Joe Arsenio and Don Stillwell each placed first in their events (Extemp and Oratorical Analysis) to be among the 400 finest speakers in High School competition.

Limited to only six events of the 10 in competition (no girls) the team was still able to take a strong third place in sweepstakes, while they dominated two events, Impromptu and Extemp. Besides Arsenio's record in extemp, Larry Kuechler took third and Ed Jages a fourth as 7 of the 16 semi-finalists were from R.L.S. Kuechler again was honored as he took third in Impromptu with Joel Harris placing fifth, while R.L.S. had 6 of 16 semi-finalists in this event. Stillwell also took a second in Unlimited Oratory, while Jim Russell took 3rd and Lonnie Foy a 5th in Dramatic Interp. Both John Cann and Josh Mack made the semi-finals in Humor. Others making the semi-finals in their events included Bill Kondrat, Jack Booth, Eric Haas, Grover Wickersham, Steve Dart and Pete Schreiter. This was on Saturday April 8th. The night before, Phil Fleming took another giant step in the Lions Club Oratorical Contest by winning the Regionals in Santa Cruz. Bill Kondrat has been elected the new President of the Winston Churchill Forensic Club, sponsoring body of the speech teams.

Other Sports: Mason Phelps is to be congratulated for his dramatic victory at the West Coast Steeplechase meet held in Pebble Beach last Saturday, and coach Norman Ellis predicts an Olympic competitor in this fine young rider.

Larry Kuechler picked up two firsts (880-220) in an all-comers meet at Pacific Grove High track last Friday, with Kirk Barr and Steve Covell starting to show great promise in the field events and hurdles. Taylor Grant is making a surprising bid for varsity honors in track this year with Don Hart showing great form in the lightweights. A true test for the team, along with tennis and swim, will come this Saturday as all three teams make a "Sports Day" at Menlo Prep, with game times at 2:00 p.m. for all teams.

Vespers: Mr. Arthur Dahl, a member of the Stevenson Board of Trustees, and a treasurer of the presiding body of the Baji Religion, gave a most interesting talk at the Vesper service last Sunday. Student leaders of the Vespers committee were Jim Russell and Eric Haas. The sophomore class continues to show great leadership on many campus projects such as this.

Next Week: Results of the golf season to date (we're playing Stanford and Pacific Grove this week) and the baseball season (the CAA tournament is next Saturday) plus the final scores from our rifle team. Let's hope for an extended visit from "Ol Man Sol" this next week.

Two Carmel Students Semi-Finalists in Scholarship Program

Scott Sinclair and Josephine Bow, students at Carmel High School, were among the 10 semi-finalists competing for one of the 15 college scholarships awarded annually by PG&E to high school seniors in the company's Northern and Central California service area.

Three finalists will be selected for a scholarship of $1,000 a year for four years, and we wish both of our local contestants good luck.

20. Does the candidate have a sense of humor?

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

"Dining a la Russe Today"

The last of this season's Explorerama Carmel presentation at Sunset Center on Friday April 14, is the superb color film "The New Russia". So to complement this occasion we'll offer recipes from the new glamour recipe book "Dining With Celebrities".

With a minimum amount of preparation one can produce a chic pre-cinema or before-theater supper in today's short cut Russian manner. Let's commence with Eugenie Leontovich's Green Caviar as it is far less expensive than the imported variety. Next comes Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's own version of Beef Stroganoff which makes this special recipe very important indeed. We wind up with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's luscious Strawberry Ice Box Pie giving us a sure touch of true Americana in contemporary effortless entertaining. Even in modern Russia dinner is still served quite early, around sixish. This makes our little party in current vogue. It also assures one that guests won't be late since there's no lingering over a too long repast.

New Russian Supper
Vodka or Champagne Cocktails
Green Caviar Toast Rounds
Beef Stroganoff Broad Noodles
Russian Salad

Strawberry Ice Box Cake
GREEN CAVIAR
Bake a whole eggplant as you would a baked potato. When it is soft, peel off the skin and mash well with a wooden spoon. Add garlic salt, lemon juice and olive oil to taste. Do not make too moist. This keeps in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator for a few days so that it can be made in advance. Serve on Melba toast rounds with the drinks.

JACQUELINE'S
BEEF STROGANOFF
Two lbs. top sirloin beef, fat removed; 1 tbsp. flour; 2 tbsps. butter; 2 cups canned consommé; 2 tbsps. heavy sour cream; 2 tbsps. tomato paste; 3 tbsps. grated onion; 3 extra tbsps. butter; 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced diagonally; salt and freshly grated pepper; broad noodles.

Cut beef into narrow strips; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Make a roux by blending flour with butter over gentle heat until mixture bubbles and is smooth. Gradually stir in consommé and cook until it begins to thicken. Boil briefly then put through strainer. Add sour cream and tomato paste. Simmer and stir in top of double boiler over hot water.

Brown beef in butter with grated onion and mushrooms. Pour this into sauce; adjust seasoning. Heat well through. This is attractive and practical served from a chafing dish at the dinner table. Have a separate bowl of hot broad noodles on an electric warmer or serve meat in center of platter surrounded by the noodles. This makes six servings.

RUSSIAN SALAD FOR SIX
One green pepper; 1 cup water; 1/2 tsp. powdered mustard; 1/2 tsp. sugar; salt and vinegar to taste; olive oil; sliced cucumbers; romaine.

Wash the green pepper, remove seeds and membrane and slice into thin circles. Place in saucepan with the water. Simmer until just tender but still crisp. Drain and chill. Combine seasonings with vinegar and oil. Wash cucumber, then run the tines of a fork lengthwise down the unpeeled cucumber and cut into rounds. Marinate the green pepper and cucumber in the dressing and just before serving pour over crisp romaine. Serve very cold but do not "drown" the salad with too much dressing. Sesame crackers are a nice accompaniment. The salad is served at the same time as the entree but on separate plates or in small bowls.

MRS. JOHNSON'S STRAWBERRY ICE BOX PIE

One 17-oz. pkg. marshmallows; 1 box frozen strawberries or 2 cups sweetened sliced fresh ones; 1 cup whipping cream; 1 pastry shell.

Put marshmallows in top of double boiler over hot water. Add 2 tbsps. strawberry juice. Cook until marshmallows are dissolved. Add berries and mix well. Chill about 2 hours. Fold in whipped cream and pour into a cold pastry shell.

Pastry Shell: 2 tbsps. shortening; 1 tbsp. sugar; 1 tsp. salt; 1 cup flour; 3 tbsps. cold water.

Cream shortening with sugar and salt. Add flour and cold water. Mix lightly. Roll out and fit into pie plate. Bake in a 450 F. oven until golden brown (about 15 minutes). Chill pastry before adding the filling. Serve cold.

"Dining With Celebrities" is compiled by Selma Cherkas and published by Charles E. Tuttle Co. The Wells Book Shop in Carmel has this book in stock.

Red Cross Locates Wounded Carmelite

When Colonel and Mrs. LeRoy Bartlett of Pebble Beach received word that their son, Captain LeRoy Bartlett III, in Vietnam with A Battery, 21st Artillery, 1st Cavalry, had been severely wounded, they asked the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter of the Red Cross to locate him. Mrs. Bartlett's sister, Mrs. California Peake, was en route to Japan, and it was hoped that a meeting might be effected.

The Red Cross locator service was called by the Carmel executive secretary, Dorothy James. They called back reporting that Captain Bartlett was found to be on orders to Army Hospital 106 in Japan. Within five days from the initial news of Captain Bartlett's injuries Mrs. Peake had been contacted on board the President Wilson, en route to Yokohama, and a meeting was arranged.

Both Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. Peake have long been volunteer workers with the Red Cross.

April Exhibit

Paintings by Mrs. Hal B. Stewart (Mildred Schmidtman) and Mr. Stewart will be exhibited at the Carmel Foundation Town House, Lincoln and 8th during the month of April.

Mildred Schmidtman, nationally known portrait artist and former art teacher in Washington State took early training in her native state of Missouri. She studied at the University of Washington, the Cornish school of Seattle, and portraiture with Eustace Paul Ziegler of Alaskan fame, Indiana artist Edgar Forkner doing marines and flower studies, and later with Leon Deane Marsh of the Chicago Art Institute, and with Fred Marshal and Paul Immel of Seattle.

She has exhibited nationally as well as in Mexico, Hawaii, and Canada, and won many prizes, among them the Music and Art Foundation award in Seattle. Her Indian paintings have hung in a number of New York Galleries as well as in the Smithsonian Museum in Tacoma since 1941.

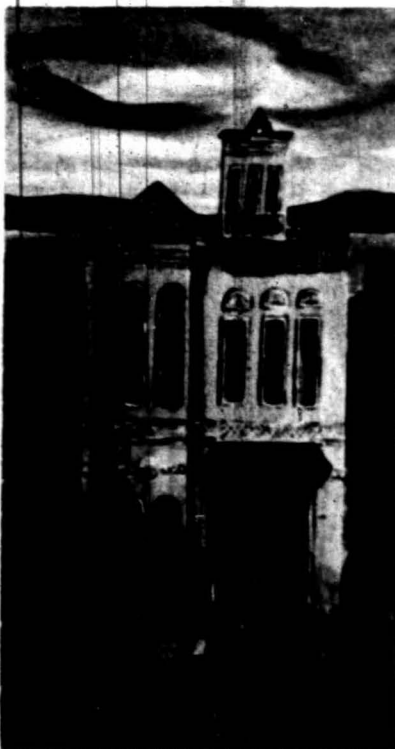

Mr. Stewart studied in Europe after graduating from the University of Illinois, in the school of Architecture, which profession he has followed most of his life. He was one of three architects that designed the beautiful and famous La Fonda Hotel in Santa Fe, New Mexico, as well as many other western buildings. Since retiring he is again painting and both have their studios in their recently completed Yankee Point home overlooking the ocean in the Carmel Riviera.

Both artists have had paintings hanging for the past month in the invitational "Coast Artists" show in the Cunningham Memorial gallery in Bakersfield.

Photography Show

Gene Antisdel, a graduate student in design at San Jose State College, will have a one man photography show during the month of April at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association. Many of these photographs will be included in a book by Doctor S. P. R. Charter to be published for the Foundation for Human Ecology. Mr. Antisdel has recently had a one man show at the I.B.M. gallery in San Jose and has also shown abroad.

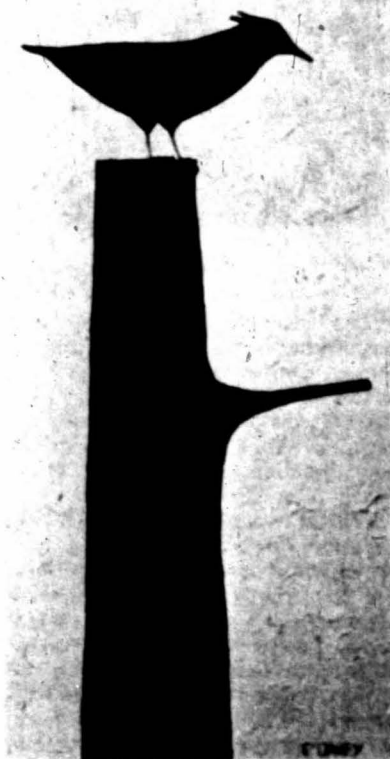

Mr. Steve Crouch who selected the show, says, "These are among the strongest and most exciting photographs I have ever seen."

The April presentation at the Carmel Art Association includes Patricia Cunningham's show of work after her recent trip around Mediterranean countries. One of her paintings is the "Arch of Constantine," above.

Also being shown are the "Little Shipyards," above, by Reginald Machado, "Victorian San Francisco" by Cuth Walker, "Bird Looking" by R. Davey.

All in all, the show is a very well balanced display of the talents of our local artists.

Stanton stated that numerous business commitments have arisen which make it impossible for him to devote his time to the office of President. He will continue to be

Mrs. William Arnold was elected President at the March meeting of the board to fulfill Stanton's term. Mrs. Arnold has been active in the association for the past four years and was chairman of last year's most successful Christmas Creations. She is an associate in the Monterey office of George E. Citizens' Comments

THE WEAKENING DETERRENT CAPABILITY

by Wesley Yale

At the time John Foster Dulles was Secretary of State the nuclear policy of the United States was one of "massive retaliation," that is, any aggression threatening the peace of the world would be met by complete nuclear destruction. The result was indeed a Pax Americana, if only for the limited period lasting until the Soviets, by espionage and defections or left wing scientists, developed their own nuclear capability. Later came lower yield nuclear weapons that presented the additional problem of their possible use without other than a strictly localized effect; additionally, the "Nth Country" problem arose when France, Britain and China developed small nuclear arsenals.

All these later developments tend to weaken the deterrent effect of the nuclear trigger which has been hitherto releasable only by the President of the United States. And the greatest reason for the existence of nuclear arms is the fact that their effects are so catastrophic that aggressor nations will be deterred from aggression.

Recent history has shown little evidence of deterrence and the situation in Vietnam is the best example. It has been said that Khrushchev was deterred from the Cuban missile adventure by an American nuclear threat but it is more likely that having achieved the major purpose of the Soviets in Cuba by the establishment of a submarine and subversion base in the Americas, any sort of opposition would have sufficed to call the bluff. The ever-present Soviet policy of small wars of "liberation" is sufficient to show that there is a threshold to deterrence but that it is too high to serve present day needs.

The world wide campaign of China and the USSR to brand the United States as an aggressive bully with a nuclear arsenal has borne fruit. Nobody, especially the left wing liberals both at home and abroad, criticizes the Soviets for their policy or China for its recent nuclear arms developments. Everything that is done or said is inhibiting to the deterrent capability of America.

This is the most serious result of the critical comments of United States Senators and college professors anent American policy. Not only do the Hanoi politicians believe that nuclear arms will never be used by Americans, but they believe that US public opinion will not countenance any measures that will really bring an early end to the fighting.

The tragedy is that stimulations which escalate by degrees have a habit of escalating to the degree when the established threshold is crossed. See World Wars I and II and Korea. Then comes nuclear holocaust that could have been prevented at the outset by a firm deterrent stand.

Carmel City Council
Carmel, California
Gentlemen:

When the Carmel Citizens Committee was informed that a special report on parking would be considered at the April 5 meeting of the Carmel City Council, we convened a special meeting to discuss the matter. At this meeting the following resolution was unanimously approved by our Board of Directors:

Inasmuch as the City of Carmel is already providing more than 1,000 on-street parking places and inasmuch as the business and professional community has an obligation to provide additional parking facilities and

Recognizing that the City Council has already adopted this principle in requiring the owner of a new building to provide off-street parking facilities,

BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED:

(1) that revenues derived from fees or rentals paid for parking on city owned property should go into the City General Fund and not into a special fund for provision of more parking,

(2) that should any city owned property be leased to a parking district, parking authority or private group organized for the purpose of providing parking facilities, the terms of such lease shall include a fair rate of return to the city for the use of said property.

Respectfully yours,

C. W. Fisher
Committee
President Carmel Citizens

Editor,

The Pine Cone:

The Carmel City Council has decided that the time has come to turn Sunset North Playfield into a paved parking lot. If the citizens of Carmel are spineless enough to let the City Council get away with this, they deserve to live with it.

I, personally, am not going to fight this battle single-handedly any longer. I am getting so that I hate the sight of Carmel, and that's a dangerous frame of mind.

Are there really only a few of us who would rather see green grass on the North Playfield than another offensive stretch of black-top? Are there only a few of us left who really care about all this?

Sincerely yours,
Wallace E. Doolittle

Editor, Carmel Pine Cone:

The high-rise hemline is getting a quiet veto from most of America's younger women, from Hollywood Boulevard to the smallest towns. They are to be complimented for their common sense and good taste. They've resisted pressure from certain designers and fashion writers who have for several seasons been pleading for continued "escalation."

What's fashionable is not decided by actresses and models who wear what they're told for what they're paid. Instead, styles are settled by the free choice of great numbers of individual women of charm and beauty.

American women's choice to stop the rise is significant. History shows you can measure a nation's strength by the principles of its females. Look at Britain and France, once great, now noted for nothing much but unkempt hair styles and short skirts.

J. F. Coppedge

To The Editors and the City Fathers:

Would it not be possible to install more benches on the corners of the streets of Carmel? In a village where many people walk, and walk long distances to the post office, for instance, would it not be a gracious and inexpensive service to such residents? If the Church of the Wayfarer had the kindness to set up that welcome bench inscribed "Rest and Be Thankful," consider how many other weary souls might bless and thank the Village of Carmel-by-the-Sea, if many more spots for a moment's rest were placed under a corner tree.

Iona Logie

To Senators and Congressmen:

Forty cents of every Foreign Aid dollar goes to a pack of bureaucrats who feed on the rest of us. Then our foreign aid staff is living it up abroad. Example: for the 271 members of our staff in Pakistan, we provided 229 cars, 529 refrigerators, 660 air conditioners, 650 stoves, and hired 1021 Pakistan natives as gardeners.

When there will be enough angered Americans this debauchery will end.

Sincerely,
E. L. BARTHELEMY

America the Beautiful... Is Everybody's Job

It's the job of every family that spreads a picnic on a roadside table.

It's the job of every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways.

Every driver, every walker, every flier.

That's why our Association throws its whole-hearted support each year into the Keep America Beautiful campaign.

Lovely country we have here. Let's keep it that way.

YUCATAN, HO!, THE HARD WAY

by Ruth Upton

We looked like something out of "Trader Horn" or a story by S. J. Perelman — bearded John in his salvage shop White Hunter jacket and me in cheongsan and zories, our untidy bundles stacked around us while we waited uneasily on a steamy Mexican dock for a signal from the poop deck of the Santa Maria.

We were on the last lap of our journey to Yucatan where John was to poke about Mayan ruins. The warm, sultry air of the tropical port of Vera Cruz inspired us to try a freighter to Progreso instead of continuing by train and bus. After dining on the main plaza Sunday night, we strolled down to the Embarcadero where we were directed to the farthest dock where the small cargo ships were tied up. Squatted on the deck of a small vessel named the Santa Maria was a Mayan helmsman named Fausto. He told us they would leave Monday night at 6 p.m. for Progreso and that if we'd return at noon the following day he would let us know if the Captain would take us as deck passengers.

We showed up on time and Fausto told us the Captain had agreed to transport us for $20 total; the voyage would take two nights and two and a half days. As there was no insurance to cover passengers, the local agent was not to know about this so we were to show up before sailing time and wait for Fausto's signal from the "papa" to approach.

Just as we were about to board, there was a cry, "Hombre al mar!" Fausto and a couple of other seamen went into action, fending off the ship and throwing a line to the boy floundering about in the water. No one was alarmed because the boy, the cook's assistant, had fallen overboard in Tampico the day before.

Cargo had been loaded and the ship looked a little crowded. I don't know what sort it was; it had been built in New Orleans in 1942. The crew's quarters were in the bow and the bridge a little more than half-way from it. Pepsi-

Each My Most Interesting Trip story has been written by an entrant in the Pine Cone's travel contest. Following publication, Carmel travel agents will select three winners. First prize will be a $50 U.S. Savings Bond. Two $25 bonds will be awarded, also.

Cola bottles (empties) in gunny sacks had been lashed to the deck which made walking a little odd. Forward, there was one Volkswagen, miscellaneous strips of metal extending to the sea on both sides and a ten ton truck which also was almost the width of the deck. Fausto gave us his bunk in the crew's quarters and to reach it, we had to crawl over the metal strips and under the bed of the truck.

Dinner wasn't bad and in spite of no doors to our "room" and no sheets, we had no trouble falling asleep. In the morning I noticed quite a bit of motion. In fact, it was like being in an insane elevator. After a salt-water shower which I had to take with one hand (I had to clutch the faucet with the other to keep myself horizontal), we crawled under the truck to the "dining room." There, we learned that we were in the middle of a "norte" which gives birth to the hurricanes in the Gulf of California. I decided to skip breakfast when I saw John's portion—a thin pork chop floating in its fat, cold refried beans and terrible coffee.

To ward off sea-sickness, I'd brought along a package of chilets, oranges and cheese. The rest of the day I spent leaning against a bale of gunny sacks, chewing furiously.

The sea was calmer the next day. We were so heavily loaded we were at row-boat level to the sea. The porpoises, flying fish and a water spout provided the ship's entertainment.

In spite of the pleasure of doing nothing but watch for fish and dolphins and read, I could hardly wait to get to Merida, our final

Tahiti Happiness At Club Mediterranee

Smiles of welcome, traditional dances, and clear seas reflect the warmth of Tahiti. The island, south of the equator, basks in tropical splendor just hours from Los Angeles by DC-8 jet. Boat and plane excursions are available to the nearby isles of Moorea, Bora Bora, and Raiatea. At Tahiti visitors can enjoy sea sports, tranquil relaxation, excellent shopping and distinctive dining. destination, and a decent bath. My excitement on docking turned to horror when I saw how I was supposed to leave the ship.

The tide was low and the dock high. It looked to be about 50 feet above us. We climbed on top of the bridge. A two-by-six, rather worn, had been extended from the dock, at a 45 degree angle. It wasn't secure and there wasn't anything to hold on. I think I could have made it if I went downhill but I could hear "Mujer al mar" if I tried to clumb up the plank. The sight of a grown woman cringing and clutching the deck softened the seamen. One on shore threw a line to a sailor and both held it fairly taught as I crept up the board without looking down.

Snug in the Caribe Hotel in Merida, well-scrubbed from head to toe and with a water cooler of ice water outside our door, we decided the passage was worth every cent of $20!

INCOME TAX REMINDER

Unmarried persons who qualify as "heads of households" benefit from lower tax rates, according to Joseph M. Cullen, District Director of Internal Revenue Service for Northern California.

Special tax rates are provided if you are unmarried (or legally separated) on the last day of the year and furnished over half the cost of maintaining a household for the full year for at least one relative.

All relatives, other than parents, must actually live with you with the exception of an unmarried child, grandchild, or stepchild.

"Aloha to Springtime" is the theme of the Garden Tour and will include some of the charming gardens in the Carmel area as well as the estate gardens in Pebble Beach, and beautiful home interiors of three gardens. A formal tea at 2 p.m. in an oriental garden setting will be a highlight of the tour which will benefit the Visiting Nurses Association of the Monterey Peninsula.

Tickets may be purchased by contacting Mmes. Herbert Wagner or R. A. Horning, both of Carmel or by writing Ticket Chairman, Box 2004, Carmel. Tickets are also available at florists on the Peninsula.

GIFT TO COLLEGE LIBRARY

David Lambert, president of the Associated Student Body of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, has announced a donation of $950 from the student organization to the Institute.

Lambert said that the sum was given for the acquisition of books for the college's library.

Mrs. Louise M. Weiss, librarian, in acknowledging the generous gift, said that some of it would be used to strengthen the Arabic collection.

Maxine Shore Is Carmel's Promise To Aspiring Writers

by Dorothy Johnson

Five dollars down and three hours per week and you, like more than 700 other talented Carmelites, may start your first novel.

Maxine Shore, a successful author in her own right, with seven books to her credit, quickens her teaching for the Carmel Adult School with professional know-how, humor and understanding.

She has written hundreds of articles, short stories and television plays. "I feel this is my time to teach," she said, her blue-grey eyes twinkling. "Teaching is creative, too." Brought up in Minnesota, she still talks with a whimsical preciseness. "You know how it is—Carmel was made famous by famous writers. We can boast of Robinson Jeffers, Sinclair Lewis, Mary Austen and so many others." People come here and get caught up in all the beauty of Carmel's nature. The sun and the sand and the sea. The wind whispering through the trees. Long walks in pursuit of pleasure.

MAXINE SHORE... 'A HELPING HAND'

And then, what happens? That, is the million dollar question. But the answer, in most cases, is that a consuming desire to create — to achieve personal fulfillment — is born.

Mrs. Shore first saw Carmel in 1950, en route to live in Palos Verdes Estates. In 1958 she decided to move here. "I fell in love with it," she said. "It's so beautiful and unspoiled. The pines. Point Lobos. And the valley I felt as if I were coming home." Giving a wry smile, Maxine concluded, "Oh, I was completely brain-washed."

Sharing this enthusiasm is her son, Steven, a graduate of Carmel High and Monterey Peninsula College, where he was student body president and editor of the college newspaper. He has collaborated with his mother on a play, which was sold, and a science fiction book now in progress, and tentatively called "The Lost Colonists." A senior at Willamette University in Salem, Oregon, Steve recently won the Oregon State Men's After Dinner Speaking Contest.

Pausing for a moment or two, Maxine stoked the fire that was beginning to die down, and I looked around the house that she calls home. On the mantel was a very good likeness of young Steven sculptured by Lenore Woolams. Beside it was the president's gavel and a plaque he was awarded for "Outstanding Editor of El Yanki, Spring, 1965." Rows of books lined the fireplace wall. There was a piano and an etching, maybe two. French doors led to a patio shaded by a giant oak. It was a comfortable, friendly place and, like its owner, possessed a certain warmth and charm.

"One of the most interesting aspects of my teaching is the people," she said. "Finding and developing talent for the proper fields. To see progress. And when one of my students publishes — truly, I feel like a grandmother to a brain child."

"I've no set views about writing," Mrs. Shore continued. "However, one must not put it off..." She believes that writing should be treated as a business — "So many hours per day and so many days a week." She recommends frequent revision. "Sometimes it's necessary to start a story 15 or 20 times before it's acceptable. Oh, it's hard work — this writing business, often discouraging," Maxine laughed lightly, "but rewarding, too. Perhaps because it's not easy."

"Articles are easier to write, easier to sell, than short stories or novels," Mrs. Shore, who has also edited for Harper and Brothers, New York and London, added. "If there is anything I do know, it's that if you take a point of view that offends an editor's readers, you may as well write for your own amusement. Your work will not be published."

The way of life that Maxine Shore has chosen for herself and her peculiar genius for giving to others, has an ever-growing influence on the lives of her students. Many students enter her class with some misgivings — feeling presumptuous that they could write anything that anybody would care to read. But somehow, somewhere along the way, they begin to achieve; and every manuscript becomes better than the last.

Not counting first sales of poems, articles, short stories and plays; some of the novels that had their beginnings in her class are "The Cliff House Mystery" and a Junior Guild literary selection, also "The Mystery of the China Town Pearls," by Betty Antonich; "Tatsu, the Dragon," by Helen Van Aken; and besides "It's Morning Again" and "The Amber Flask," Helen Bratton has a new book, "Only in Time," currently on the press. Helen sums it up this way: "My opinion can best be expressed in the autograph I wrote in Maxine's copy of my first book; 'to Maxine Shore whose helping hand is never withheld but placed firmly in the center of the spine with an encouraging shove and words of cheerful confidence' — and I believe this goes for all her students..."

In addition to academic help, her class provides an information clearing house about what's going on in the writer's world — who's reading what, who's writing that, and who's publishing. It's a give and take situation. Often, there are as many as 40 people who answer the roll call.

Always, her students know Maxine Shore will keep Carmel's promise to new writers.

Skiing Holiday

Doctor and Mrs. Jack Stein and their two children, Martha and Jack Jr., were in South Lake Tahoe recently, staying with the Bueford Carlsons of Monterey — who have a weekend home there.

The whole family went skiing at Heavenly Valley where there was wonderful new snow and the weather was beautiful. This lovely resort will stay open until May this year as the skiing conditions are so good.

Invited To Canada

Dr. Norman L. Oleson, professor of physics at the Naval Postgraduate School, has accepted an invitation to serve as external examiner of a candidate for the degree of doctor of philosophy in physics at the University of Saskatchewan. He will fly to Saskatoon for two days during the last week in April to evaluate the candidates' dissertation, which deals with the field of plasma physics. A member of the Postgraduate School's physics department since 1948, Oleson lives in Pebble Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher D. Heider of San Juan, Puerto Rico, former residents of Parkchester, New York, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Mary, to Lt. Commander Richard V. Taras, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Taras of Pebble Beach.

Commander Taras, who was home on leave three weeks ago, was recently decorated with the Air Medal for service in Vietnam. The Naval pilot is presently based at Agana Naval Air Station on Guam. He is a graduate of Pacific Grove High School and Monterey Peninsula College and earned his bachelor of science degree at Oregon State University, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Epsilon. He is a member of the Elks Club.

Miss Heider is a stewardess with Pan American Airways and is stationed in San Francisco where she is assigned to the Pacific routes. She is a graduate of the Academy of Mt. St. Ursula in White Plains, New York and received her BA degree in social science at Good Counsel College in White Plains.

The young couple have chosen June 3 as the date of their wedding at St. Angela's Catholic Church in Pacific Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marinkovich of Carmel announced the engagement of her daughter, Sandra Ann Gimbel, and Daniel Glenn Sumpter of Marina, at a family gathering this month.

Sandra is the daughter of the late Robert A. Gimbel and is a 1963 graduate of Carmel High School. She attended American River Junior College as well as Monterey Peninsula College and is now employed with the Bank of California in Monterey.

Sandra is the sister of Deborah, Robert and Joel Gimbel, also of John, Michele and Candice Marinkovich, all of Carmel. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Max M. Bacharach of Oakland and Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gimbel of Berkeley are her paternal grandparents.

Mr. Sumpter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron G. Sumpter of Marina and is employed with the Monterey Unified School District. He is a 1961 graduate of Junipero Memorial High School and he attended Monterey Peninsula College and served with the U.S. Army for two years. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael P. Breier.

Settle In Highlands

Edward and Randi Wilson are now very much at home in their new house on Fern Canyon Road in Carmel Highlands. Ed, who just received his orders from the Army, is to remain on duty at Fort Ord.

Both Ed and Randi are delighted to be able to stay in Carmel and be near their families, the Court Randolphs of Pebble Beach and the Elwood Wilsons of Carmel.

Lucinda Williams In April Wedding

Wedding vows were exchanged on Saturday, April 8, by Lucinda Lloyd Williams and Daniel Lewis Gornel, M.D., in the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse III, in San Luis Obispo.

Superior Court Judge Richard Harris performed the ceremony witnessed by Mrs. Gornel's children, Anna and Michael Williams; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Lloyd of Carmel; and her husband's parents, Doctor and Mrs. Leon H. Gornel of Beverly Hills.

Mrs. Gornel's older sister, Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis, her husband and their sons, Owen and Lloyd, came from Menlo Park for the wedding and from Carmel her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Lloyd and their children, Peter, Lesley and Jennifer. Doctor Gornel's brother and sister-in-law came from Inglewood for the service.

Granddaughter of the late Doctor and Mrs. F. E. Lloyd, who established a home in Carmel in 1911, Mrs. Gornel attended Carmel schools and the University of California at Davis. Her husband is a graduate of Pomona College and Harvard University School of Medicine. He took his specialist's training in internal medicine in Boston, Massachusetts, and served with the U. S. Navy in Indonesia and did postgraduate work at the University of California in Los Angeles before opening a practice in Carmel.

Kathy Farr of Carmel, who is an art major at Monterey Peninsula College, last month received a $50 "ASMPAC Academic Award" from the college's student body organization.

To be selected for this award Kathy had to be chosen by her major department, be an ASMPAC member and have achieved a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.4 and have completed 12 or more units in the fall semester.

Two weekends ago Carmel was honored with a visit from Chalermpong Jamerbsin of Bangkok, Thailand. Mr. Jamerbsin was seeing the United States for the first time and was making a 70-day comprehensive tour by courtesy of the State Department. He has worked for the U.S. Information Agency in Bangkok for the past 12 years.

Mr. Jamerbsin came to the Monterey Peninsula at his own request having heard that the Defense Language Institute was one of only two schools in the United States that teaches his native language, Thai.

Opening night at the Big Sur restaurant Nepenthe, was attended by Mr. Jamerbsin and he met actress Kim Novak there which may be one of the reasons he thinks Carmel is "the best place I have yet visited." He hopes to return soon and this time bring his wife.

Army Private Raymond W. Roberts, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Roberts of Crescent Road in Pebble Beach, has just completed a six-week general supply course at Fort Huachuca, Arizona. The course also included typing and general information procedures and storing of various Army supplies.

Tennis Champion To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Albert of Pebble Beach have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane Tyrrell Albert and Bradford MacLean Freeman of Los Angeles.

Jane, who attended Santa Catalina School for Girls, will graduate this summer from Stanford University where she is a psychology major. During her tennis career she was the fourth ranked woman in the United States, California State champion, national inter-collegiate champion and a quarter-finalist at Wimbledon.

Her fiancé, son of Mrs. Russell Freeman of Los Angeles and the late Mr. Freeman, is a graduate of the Harvard School of Business and Stanford University, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi. He is currently training at Fort Ord and their wedding plans are contingent upon his military orders.

April Edwards, John C. Ley and Bruce L. Ricker, all of Carmel, were among the 1270 San Francisco State College scholars to be placed on the College Honors List by President John Summerskill for "outstanding scholastic achievement" during the fall 1966 semester. Among minimum requirements to be named to the list is achievement of a 3.25 grade point average.

Army First Lieutenant Edward T. Christiansen, whose wife, Maureen lives in Carmel, is participating in "Operation Junction City," the largest military operation to date in Vietnam.

Lieutenant Christiansen is a platoon leader in Company A, 1st Battalion of the 1st Infantry Division's 16th Infantry. According to an Army release, the Junction City operation was launched on the theory that national Viet Cong political and military headquarters might be located in the area along the Cambodian border, and the finding of the largest enemy encampments in the war tend to support the theory.

Margaret-Ann Luker, daughter of Rear Adm. and Mrs. George R. Luker, became the bride of Robert Alan Kleen, son of Mrs. Harold Kleen, in a 6:30 p.m. service held on April 1 in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Charles A. Stewart of Carmel Point.

Ann wore a full length dress of white ivory satin with lace accents which was a family heirloom and had been worn by her mother and her aunts. Her bridal veil was of Point de Venice lace which her grandmother, Mrs. Stewart, had bought years ago in Venice. Ann carried a bouquet of white roses.

The matron of honor was Mrs. H. Guest, who was a sorority sister of Ann's at the University of Oregon. She wore a yellow corded silk dress and she carried yellow roses. The bridegroom's brother, Richard Kleen, was the best man.

The service, which took place in front of the fireplace in Mrs. Stewart's living room, had decorations of white tulips and yellow and white iris. After the ceremony a light supper was served to the guests.

Ann attended Santa Catalina School for Girls, Saint Agnes school in Memphis and the University of Oregon and San Francisco State College. For her going away outfit she chose a white suit with a brown and white plaid blouse and scarf with brown accessories.

Mr. Kleen attended the University of Syracuse and the American Foreign Trade Institute in Phoenix. The young couple will make their new home in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Daphne Craige, daughter of Mrs. Joele B. Craige of Pebble Beach and Doctor John E. Craige of Monterey, became the bride of Richard J. Bertero of Alameda on Monday, March 27, at the San Carlos Catholic Church in Monterey. Msgr. Thomas D. Morgan performed the mid-afternoon ceremony.

Daphne's wedding gown was of white French ribbon lace in an A-line style, with a scalloped hemline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a small hat decorated with Stephanotis and carnations and carried a cascade bouquet of the same flowers.

Daphne's attendant was Mrs. James Burriss of Alameda and Mr. Fred Gilbert of San Francisco was Mr. Bertero's best man. Mr. Bertero is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bertero of Alameda.

The reception was held at the Shutters in Monterey, after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon at San Ysidro Ranch in Santa Barbara and Catalina Island.

Both Daphne and Richard attended the University of California at Berkeley and she is a graduate of U.C. Davis. Richard is a real estate broker with an Oakland firm.

Although the young couple's future home will be in the San Francisco Bay Area, the new Mrs. Bertero is remaining on the Peninsula to complete the term as a teacher at Santa Catalina School for Girls.

The Complete Gardener

Soil conditioning is a science all by itself. There are so many angles to it. Physically, a heavy soil can be conditioned by rototilling. Chemically, by the use of gypsum or calcium polysulphide. But these are only temporary measures and the soil will tighten and seal again unless amendments are added. Composted fir bark and calcined clay provide the longest-lasting results when mixed with the soil. Humus from your own compost pile is next best provided you have an adequate quantity. These are all physical treatments and will improve the tilth of your soil. Strangely enough, most dictionaries do not list the word "tilth". Perhaps they would prefer "texture". Basically it's the balance of sand, clay and organic matter. A good soil should hold moisture without becoming waterlogged. It must drain well and have a free passage of air. That's tilth. A slightly acid soil is the most desirable for all around plant culture and this condition will permit all nutrients to become readily available. In general if you have a sandy soil it will be acid.

Minerals

Next to the major plant food elements, which we sometimes call "fertilizer", we have a most important group known as "minor elements", "trace elements", or "minerals". These have much to do with the health and welfare of plant life and the condition of soils. Iron ranks as the number one mineral requirement and comes in a variety of forms. Among the most common types are "chelate", "sulphate", and "oxide". All of these have specific uses. If you're not sure which one is needed to take care of your situation there is also the "superferrite" form which is in granular form and can be applied dry. This type has conditioning value as well as being a corrective for yellowing leaves due to a mineral deficiency. If you are concerned about the health of your plants you will not neglect their mineral supply. Iron, zinc, manganese, copper, and many others, in small quantities, will make the difference between puny and prize-

... a regular diet of information having to do with plants winning. Chlorosis (yellow leaves) can be caused by a deficiency of any one mineral, not iron alone. Thus, the application of superferrite forms can correct most cases.

Alkalinity

If your soil and water are alkaline you should avoid the use of materials which produce more alkalai. Think twice before using lime, bone meal, cyanamid, muriate of potash, calcium nitrate, dried chicken manure or dried steer manure. Instead, lean toward the sulphate forms of chemical fertilizers and the other organics (bloom, cottonseed, castor bean, fish, milorganite, hoof-and-horn). Soil sulphur is the strongest acid material for this purpose. Do not depend on peat moss for acidity. From certain sources it can be quite alkaline.

Next week's chapter will be directed to those who are planning to put in a lawn. We will cover the subject, step by step, from start to finish.

Lecture On Irises At Valley Garden Club

Plans for the Carmel Valley Garden Club's tour were continued at the monthly meeting held Friday night. A final kick off meeting will be held prior to the tour at the home of I. T. Johnson, President, the date to be announced later.

Clyde Hitchcock presented a slide lecture on Iris appreciation and culture. He has been in this hobby for over 20 years and is a recognized expert.

Mr. Hitchcock delved into the history of the Iris as given in the Bible, making it one of the oldest flowers known. His slides gave a continuous flash of colors, hues and shades plus a study of the habit and bloom schedules of the many types of the ancient flower as developed in his garden, which he invited the club and the public to visit after the first of May. He suggested a phone call first to be sure that the flowers are at their best since this season is not on schedule.

The series is open to all women of the community, free of charge. Following the talk at 10 o'clock, there is a coffee hour and a question and answer period.

"Who is your brother's keeper?"

Should it be you?

In a time when it's 'every man for himself,' to love your neighbor as yourself may seem to carry a hollow ring.

But to do so can be vital to each of us. To love even our enemies is to discover something of the richness of love itself. It can open the way to greater accomplishment in our lives, restoring health and blessing others. And the way is to begin to see our true nature — and that of our fellowman — as fashioned in the image and likeness of God.

You are invited to hear this subject explored in a challenging lecture by Neil H. Bowles, C.S.B., of Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Bowles is an experienced Christian Science teacher and practitioner and a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Admission is free and all are welcome.

LINES FROM LOIS

The Seller is VERY Perturbed!

He says he has the most interesting new Carmel home in the most desired old Carmel location. (He's right.) He says you couldn't buy the oak trees in the courtyard for a king's ransom. (Right again.) He thought 3 bedrooms and 2 baths would be the perfect size for a typical Carmel couple who have occasional guests and who like to use one bedroom for a study or hobbies. He thought this typical Carmel couple would like to be able to walk to the Village and the beach. We think he's right about this, too.

FURTHERMORE, he thought most women today want an efficient modern kitchen with enough room to turn around in. He believed Carmel people like lots of glass to let the outdoors be a part of the indoors, but he also thought they would appreciate complete seclusion from neighbors and the street such as is offered by the walled courtyard. He thought they'd like a small-scale home with interesting features like a center fireplace, central heat, polished hardwood floors to show off their area rugs. HE THOUGHT THE PRICE of $47,500 was very fair, especially since lots in the area are priced from $18,000 to $20,000. We agreed with all this.

THEN WHY, SAYS HE, DOESN'T THE HOUSE SELL? We don't know. We thought you people who read Lines from Lois might help us with the answer. Will you see what you think? Drive by. It's located on the east side of Dolores between 13th and Santa Lucia, about mid-way down the block. You can't miss the interesting white wall with the beautiful blue glass light fixture—and the fascinating oaks. We'll leave the patio gate unlocked for a few days.

WOULD YOU BUY THE HOUSE?

WHAT PRICE WOULD YOU PAY FOR IT?

HOW MUCH DOWN PAYMENT CAN YOU AFFORD?

Thomas M. Moore, Jr.

didacy during my efforts as area Co-Chairman together with Tom Tousey in the most recent and successful over-ride campaign.

The aftermath of the 70 cent over-ride defeat awakened my interest in school administration. With other fathers I volunteered to perform small maintenance activities at River School. From this came many discussions with parents, teachers and administrators which gave rise to my concern that there is a gap between the happy, popular image of the Carmel School District and the actuality of a growing heterogeneous community requiring a broader spectrum in the curriculum including a true vocational program.

From my wife's efforts I have become aware of the great need in elementary education to identify and treat pupils with impaired learning ability whether due to neurological or emotional blockage.

Through my contact with school district personnel I am aware that free communication must be established between professionals at all levels. This Board has seen one superintendent hired and a new superintendent engaged to replace him. It is time for the district to review the difficulties of the past few years and to begin its work after the false starts of the past. This implies corrective criticism. It requires communication at all levels. It requires a re-evaluation of the restrictions imposed after the defeat of the 70 cent over-ride.

Our success in the recent election requires a commitment to the voters, many of whom are fixed-income retirees, to produce the best sort of schooling with the most efficient and cost-conscious administration available.

As a parent and as a taxpayer, I am pledged to the best education available. This has not been provided to date. In my experience as an attorney and in my background in English literature, I feel I can combine a liberal attitude toward the educational philosophy of the district with a conservative attitude toward cost control.

As an attorney I am familiar with the function of the Board and in my various community activities I am familiar with the needs of the district. If elected, I can promise to be independent in the exercise of my judgment as a member of the board and can pledge that I am not committed by habit pattern or friendship to any faction which would seek to control the management of education in this district.

Agnese Martineau

I was born in New York City and graduated from Hunter College. For 24 years I have been a resident of Carmel. My daughter, who is married, is a graduate of Carmel High and San Jose State College. She was most adequately prepared for college at Carmel High School.

I do not consider that I am at all up to date regarding the curriculum and the education program of the Carmel system. There will be time for me to do this if I am elected, as the Board term begins July 1, 1967. A few weeks ago I was formally introduced to Dr. Taylor at a Board meeting. I do know some Carmel teachers—some of them are friends of long standing. I have never applied for a teaching position in Carmel.

I hold three California Life Teaching Credentials. I have taught regular as well as educable retarded classes at the elementary level for 16 years.

For years I have been attending School Board meetings in the district where I teach. My three main reasons for being a School Board candidate are: I now have the time to devote to Board business; the desire to be of service to the students of the Carmel school system; and the knowledge to do so. I have had graduate courses in School Finance and School Law.

The School Board is a policy making agency and the School Superintendent is the administrator of its policies. The Board and the Superintendent must have mutual respect for each other's area of competence. The School Board is a public trustee charged with the responsibility and therefore, has the power to determine the priorities in unmet needs facing its school system.

Dorothy W. Jones
(Mrs. Malcolm)

Reason I am Running: I am running because I feel that I am qualified to help decide some of the issues that will come before the school board in a way that would be best for the children and the community.

Length of residence: 15 years.

Number of Children: (who are or have attended schools here) I have two children who graduated from Carmel High and are now at MPC; one high school student and one attending Woods School.

Activities Related to the District: Served on a committee to study the English Curriculum in the Carmel District. I was a playground supervisor at River School and at Woods School for two years; Parent participant in Carmel Parent Nursery for two years; Member of High School Boosters.

I gained knowledge of the curriculum in serving on the English Committee and attending Board meetings where reports were given on curriculum in the areas of reading, science, music, art, social studies, physical education and others. My knowledge of our instructional program came from many visits to classrooms where I also have become acquainted with teachers.

I have become familiar with the Board's responsibilities and functions by attending many school board meetings over a period of five years. I feel it is the Board's responsibility to make policy, appoint a superintendent and hire administrators and teachers. Such powers then, by their very nature, give the board a certain independence from the administration. It is the Board's responsibility to make decisions on the school budget. It is a responsibility of the Board to keep the public aware of its plans and school achievements. State laws and finances set limitations.

Community Activity: Have been a volunteer in Friends of Art, helping to staff the Art Museum for Young People at Sunset and the Carmel Museum during the Carmel Anniversary celebration. Member of the Presbyterian Church and am a church school teacher. Associate member of the Community Hospital Auxiliary.

Married to Malcolm E. Jones, a sales representative for Sears.
